

A man and a woman are walking together in a city street. The man, on the left, is wearing a green baseball cap, a green jacket over a black shirt, and has a brown bag slung over his shoulder. The woman, on the right, is wearing glasses and a light-colored sweater. They are both smiling and looking towards the right. The background shows modern city buildings with balconies and some greenery.

Builders turn opportunity into shared prosperity

People who build deserve a voice in federal policy

Founders, operators, creators, investors, and small business owners convert ideas into companies, jobs, services, and stronger communities.

Start

Make it possible for more people to launch viable businesses.

02

Grow

Help promising ventures reach capital, customers, and talent.

03

Strengthen

Keep more economic value, capability, and opportunity rooted in communities.

Our standard is nonpartisan: principles over party labels

Independent of party

We support federal candidates whose records and commitments advance the conditions builders need—regardless of party affiliation.

Policy over politics

We focus on positions that affect starting, funding, and growing a business.

Outcomes over slogans

We look for credible actions that can expand opportunity in real communities.

Broad access, practical delivery

We value clear, implementable policies that reach entrepreneurs too often left outside traditional networks.

Capital should reach entrepreneurs ready to build

01

Strengthen lending guarantees

Help more viable small businesses qualify for responsible financing.

02

Advance fair lending standards

Reduce avoidable barriers without weakening disciplined underwriting.

03

Back community lenders

Invest in lenders serving immigrant, Latino, and underserved business owners.

Federal innovation investment should reach more American cities

Move beyond concentration

Too narrow a geography for research, manufacturing, technology growth, and venture formation.

Build connected ecosystems

Link labs, manufacturers, startups, local talent, and neighborhoods in cities such as Philadelphia.

Culture and community are economic infrastructure

- 1 Treat cultural institutions as anchors that support activity, identity, and place.
- 2 Finance corridor businesses as durable parts of local economic ecosystems.
- 3 Back community developers who connect investment to neighborhood priorities.

Make the path from first idea to sustained growth clearer, faster, and fairer

Cut duplicative paperwork

Ask once, explain clearly, and reduce avoidable administrative drag.

Clarify tax treatment

Give very small firms rules they can understand and plan around.

Modernize licensing

Protect the public without punishing first-time owners.

Support follows evidence of commitment and capacity

We evaluate the work—not the party label.

Our focus stays on whether a federal candidate can materially improve the conditions for people building companies and communities.

Policy record

Actions align with builder priorities.

Federal relevance

The office can shape meaningful outcomes.

Reach

Benefits extend to underserved and immigrant communities.

Delivery

Proposals are practical and implementable.

Build a stronger path for builders in every community
